SIMPSON'S REGULATOR.

It takes the place of a doctor and a costly prescription. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of Constipation, Headache, Bile, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. It is the mildest aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures a better sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT

NO HOME SHOULD BE WITHOUT IT.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION. "I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would be as effective as the one I use. It is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. It is the mildest aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures a better sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath."

For Rosobuds of Marriage.

Let me venture a few little points to those of my girls who since the summer have worn a bright ring on their third finger.

My dear, don't let the man to whom you are engaged to be married pay all of the expenses of your living or transportation until you are his wife. A calico dress and contentment are much more to be had than a fine silk one garnished with scandal.

Don't complain to the man to whom you are engaged of the different members of your own family; it is not a good preface to matrimonial bliss.

Don't write silly letters to him, even if he is fond of affection given in that way. Let it be by word of mouth rather than with pen and ink.

Don't expect him to love you as no man has ever loved before. The methods of loving are very much the same all the world over. Be satisfied if you have got a good, honest love.

Don't believe that he is a combination in beauty of all the ancient gods, of all the gallant knights and of all the great statesmen, but conclude that he is a gentleman, and that should be your ideal.

Don't believe that he is thinking of you every hour of his life. He is not; be satisfied if he is working away, with every now and then giving a thought to the girl for whom he is making a home over which he expects her to preside as a loving, thoughtful wife. - Ladies' Home Journal.

Pretty Souvenirs.

A lady who has just returned from the seashore showed me some souvenirs of her vacation. Among them were several jewel necklaces made out of the shells of the sea urchin. Three of these shells, about four inches across and of a delicate lavender, were lined with pale pink silk and fastened to triangular pieces of heavy cardboard with beveled edges, thus making a dainty addition to a bureau or toilet table. To prepare these the opening was made larger by carefully cutting or breaking away the shell; then a small piece of cardboard was placed in the bottom of each, and the shells were fastened by a few stitches to the triangular piece. Some delicate cotton was sprinkled with sachet powder and placed

WOMAN'S WORLD.

YOUNG WOMEN AS TICKET AGENTS IN BROOKLYN.

Won't Sit in the Front Row - For Rosobuds of Marriage - Pretty Souvenirs. What Miss Potter Has Done - Will Women Combine? - Wedding Gowns.

The recent appointment of two women ticket agents at the Boerum place station of the Kings County Elevated railway has led others to apply for places. They are told there are no vacancies at present, but their names often are taken and reserved for future reference. In the absence of General Manager William T. Goundie a representative of the company said recently that positively none of the men would be turned away to make room for women.

"But," it was asked, "is it to be the rule hereafter that women will be appointed to fill vacancies as they may occur?"

"There is no reason why women should not be appointed," was the reply. "We believe they will prove honest and capable."

The official, however, would not commit himself as to whether or not this was to be the future policy of the company. There are drawbacks to the employment of women. A ticket agent on the elevated roads, as everybody knows, has often to deal with some pretty ugly customers. The two women who are now acting as ticket agents are not deterred by this consideration.

Of the two female ticket agents, one goes on duty at 5 a. m. and stays until 3 p. m. - ten hours. She is relieved then by the other, who remains until 1 o'clock the next morning - ten hours. They will be expected to work seven days in the week, the same as the men. He said they understand this, and had offered no objection. It is said the road had economy in view when it introduced the innovation. The men are paid $12 per week, whereas the women receive $9. A saving of $3 a week out of each of the eighty-eight ticket agents on the road would mean $264 a week for the owners. - New York Sun.

Won't Sit in the Front Row.

The custodian of the large hall in Cooper Union undertook to perform a gallant act on the occasion of the Municipal League mass meeting, and he is now wiser in the ways of the fair sex than he was. Before the clamoring crowd in front of the building was admitted to the hall he told his assistants and the policemen on guard that he wanted the front row of seats reserved for ladies. He was very particular on that point and admonished the police over and over again not to let any men occupy those front seats unless they escorted ladies. The wielders of the persuasive night stick laid right. When the doors were opened and found other places not in front and swarmed over the front row of seats. Several seated themselves in that forbidden quarter, but they were unceremoniously expelled.

It cost the police and the custodian and the custodian's assistants a great deal of trouble to keep that front row vacant, but they succeeded. Several ladies entered the hall and were politely invited to "step right down in front."

They were shown to the front row, but after glancing at the empty seats they turned back and found other places not so far forward. Not one woman could be induced to sit down in that front row. The gallant custodian was sorely puzzled, and finally he mustered sufficient courage to ask one lady who declined to accept his invitation to sit in the front row why she objected. "I don't want to sit there," she exclaimed impatiently, "because there is no place to put my feet." - New York Times.

Some Complexion Tints.

The cold winds of autumn make the following advice very reasonable: Rose water and brandy is recommended for roughness caused by walking or driving in the wind. Another skin tonic is alcohol and water. The white of an egg beaten well, five grams of alum in five grams of sweet almond oil is said to be a sure remedy for wrinkles. One teaspoonful of carbolio acid in a pint of rose water is an excellent remedy for pimples. Strong tea will darken the eyelashes, we are told, while sage tea makes the hair dark, and cream made by a pint of glycerine and six ounces of lime water will, when rubbed thoroughly into the hair, make it glossy and keep the scalp clean. - New York Journal.

Springfield's Nurses.

Springfield, Mass., is to have a directory of nurses. The board of registration will consist of two from the trustees and two from the medical staff of the hospital, who will pass upon each applicant. The manager will know the location of every nurse; those unemployed can be reached at short notice, and both the sick and the nurse will be benefited through the convenience of the directory. Mrs. C. A. Nichols is one of the hospital trustees on the board of registration. - Boston Woman's Journal.

The Influence of Reading.

Seventeen years ago Miss Ticknor, of Boston, having been often appealed to to direct the reading of young girls, founded a society to encourage home study. This society, including at first half a dozen names, now has a membership of 584 active students, whose intellectual work is planned and simplified inside. A circular piece of silk was cut large enough so that when gathered over a cord one-half inch from the edge and drawn up to fit the opening it would nicely lie on the outside of the opening. These may be arranged singly and in groups, but the triangular arrangement was especially pretty. - Housewife.

What Miss Potter Has Done.

Miss Beatrice Potter is at present one of the most famous and talked of women in England. She is a superbly beautiful woman, is of aristocratic connections and owns a large fortune in her own right. For several years past she has been a devoted pupil and disciple of Herbert Spencer. Having read and heard all manner of gruesome stories of the horrors endured by women in sweaters' shops, she dressed herself in the odious rags worn by that class, and went down into the City, found work, and for two months lived and labored side by side with those miserable white slaves of the needle.

Few knew her secret, and so cleverly were her plans carried out that neither employers nor employees ever suspected her identity. When she had thoroughly informed herself on all minutiae relating to the criminal tyranny exercised by the sweaters, and on the hideous lives led by their female victims, she threw off her disguise, returned to the West End, gave exhaustive newspaper interviews and appealed for legislative interference.

So strong and unanswerable were her arguments, seconded by her own experiences, that parliament discussed ways and means for righting this great wrong. - New York Telegram.

Will Women Combine?

Will women combine is a question that some of the foremost women in the United States are considering with reference to representation in a federation at the World's fair. The strongest female organization in the world is said to be the Women's Christian Temperance union, which has auxiliaries all over the country and a membership of 200,000. The King's Daughters, including all the cities, a la Dorcas, number 135,000. There are 100,000 women in the Ladies' Relief corps, the Suffragists are about 75,000 strong, the Kindergarten association 50,000, and the working girls' societies in New York alone have an army of 130,000. Here is a league of more than half a million women banded together for mutual aid and general good, to which, under wise legislation, there should be nothing but success, advancement and prosperity. And yet the question has been raised in Europe and America, Will women combine? - Exchange.

Wedding Gowns.

Pretty Parisian wedding gowns for the season are artistic and beautiful in the extreme. The richest are composed of the new broadcated satins, on whose lustrous surface branches of orange blossoms, white lilacs, snow drops, or the popular fleur-de-lis are strewn. Silver embroidery or brocade is seen on several Tudor dresses. When a plain fabric is desired, pearl or white satin sewn thickly with costly beads, a la Dorcas, tenant, may be chosen. For trimming there are riches of white ostrich tips, of lace, thick, close frills of white mousseline de soie, or handsome silver and pearl passementeries. Often the long polonaise is of brocade, and the underskirt of embroidered lace or muslin. Or a plain skirt with bodice waist has a long train of rich brocade. - New York Ledger.

An Exile's Wife.

Mrs. O'Brien, wife of the Irish exile, is a Russian lady of social distinction, and is described by those who have met her as highly intelligent and accomplished. In personal appearance she is of a dark type of beauty, petite and fascinating. She is a zealous adherent of her husband's cause, and has translated into Russian and French the works of John Morley, the Liberal leader, for the widespread dissemination of his views. Being Russian born, it is to be presumed that the present complication in her husband's affairs is in no way disheartening to her - political hot water seeming to be the condition upon which the czar's subjects thrive, or at least in which they frequently find themselves. - New York Times.

A BEDTIME SONG.

Sway to and fro in the twilight gray,
This is the ferry of Shadowtown;
It always sails at the end of day,
Just as the darkness is closing down.

Best little head, on my shoulder, so;
A sleepy kiss is the only fare;
Drifting away from the world we go,
Baby and I in the rocking chair.

See where the fire logs glow and spark,
Glitter the lights of Shadowtown;
The winter rain on the window—hark!
As it ripples lapping upon its strand.

There where the mirror is glistening dim
A lake lies shimmering, cool and still;
Blossoms are waving above its brim—
Those over there on the windmill hill.

Rock slow, more slow, in the dusky light,
Silently lower the anchor down;
Dear little passenger, say "Good night,"
We've reached the harbor of Shadowtown.

—W. Douglas Claypool.

The Czar's Lesson.

During his stay at Fredensburg Prince Albert, a son of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, devoted himself by tormenting the life out of the czar's favorite dog. One day the emperor of Russia, as he passed along the shore of the Lake of Esrom, which bounds the park of Fredensburg on one side, perceived the young prince in the act of taking up his dog in his arms and throwing him into the water. Half in sport, half in anger, Alexander III, who possesses uncommon muscular strength, went up to the young man—who is his nephew, by the by—and seizing him by the coat collar, threw him into the lake in his turn, saying:

"As you seem to be so fond of water, I'll give you a taste of it for once." Since this occurrence Prince Albert has given the czar's pet dog a wide berth.—La Morte Antisante.

An Ancient Custom at Yale.

In the chapel on either side of the middle aisle sit the dignified seniors, while in other parts are the lower classes. Away up in his high pulpit sits "Prexy" (which is the cognomen that the honorable president goes by). After the service is over a most ancient and curious custom takes place, which is both interesting and amusing to the visitor. As the president leaves the chapel he passes down the middle aisle between the lines of standing seniors, who all bow very low at his passage. It is almost funny to see the men double up and bend almost to the ground, and it is hard to repress a smile. At the end gallery seats are reserved for spectators, and during "Prom," week, when these seats are filled with pretty girls, the point of general interest is generally that end of the chapel and not the other.—New Haven Cor. New York Telegram.

Best Fodder for Cavalry Horses.

A series of experiments, made with a view of discovering the best fodder for French cavalry horses, has established the fact that straw and oats are, in reason, preferable to hay. It appeared that when the ration of hay was reduced, and that of the straw and oats proportionately increased, the staying power of the horses was much improved; they sweated less and bore fatigue better. These experiments have excited much interest in military circles, and it is very generally recognized that there is imperative need for a complete and careful study of the question of cavalry fodder.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Bible Three Centuries Old.

Mrs. Barbara Miller, who resides at No. 419 East Sixty-first street, has in her possession a very old Bible. It is a German Catholic Bible, and was printed in 1543. The ancient volume is 18 inches long, 9 inches wide and 6 inches thick. The leaves are yellow with age, and would not bear handling. The type used in printing the Bible was made of wood. The book has always been in the family, and has been handed down from one generation to another. Mrs. Miller has frequently been offered good prices for the Bible, but has refused to part with it.—New York World.

A Bright Drummer.

The drummer who cannot do his share of bragging, and perhaps a little more, is as rare in the community as the black swan of antiquity. The latest specimen of drummer's hyperbole I give here word for word as it was told to me: "You can't begin to conceive of the enormous dimensions of our establishment. Just think of it! We didn't find out until we began to take stock lately that two of our cashiers had been missing for four weeks!"—Jewelers' Weekly.

Respect for Age.

Proverbs and sage advice for the young are perhaps common enough. Counsel to the aged is not so frequent, doubtless because it is not supposed to be so much needed.

Here, however, is a very wise and witty bit of advice to those who are growing old, uttered by a French philosopher:

"Always respect gray hairs—above all when they are of your own head."—Youth's Companion.

IF A BODY MEET A BODY

the result is a collision, whether "coming from the rear" or not. Life is full of collisions. We are constantly colliding with some body or something. It is not with our neighbors it is with some dread disease that "knocks us off the track," and renders us useless for life. Women especially it seems, have to bear the brunt of these collisions and afflictions than mankind. In all cases of nervousness, bearing-down sensations, tenderness, protracted pains, sick headache, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, and all the ills that attend "female weakness," Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes to the rescue of women as no other medicine does. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, that the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be refunded. "Seeing is Believing."

Do you want to buy a Lamp?

And the best lamp ever made, like the old, "wonderful lamp" A lamp absolutely non-explosive and non-breakable, which gives a clear, soft, brilliant white light of 16 candle power.

Purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light, more cheerful than either! That lamp

"The Rochester."

And with it there is no smoke, no flame, no broken chimneys, no flickering, no sweating, no climbing up of the flame, no "tantrums," no annoyance of any kind, and it never needs trimming. The flame (oil reservoir) being tough rolled seamless brass, with central draft, it is absolutely unbreakable, and as safe as a railway car.

Only five years old, and over two million of these lamps are in use. It must be a GOOD lamp for lamps may come and lamps may go, but the "Rochester" shines forever. It will make over 2,000 artistic varieties, hanging and table lamps, in brass, nickel, chrome, and steel, every kind, in brass, nickel, chrome, and steel.

Ask the lamp dealer for it. Look for the trademark stamp, "The Rochester." If he wants, or if no lamp-store is near, send to us price-list, and we will box and ship you any lamp safely by express, right to your door.
